A2. COURSE AVAILABILITY

There is a limited number of places offered in courses that include laboratory or bedside teaching.

Elective courses are subject to demand and a minimum number of enrolled students is required for to be organized in English.

A3. COURSE CONTENT AND ASSESSMENT

Detailed information regarding the type of the course, the course content (syllabus) and the learning outcomes, the relevant prerequisites, the assessment methods, the language of instruction and availability for Erasmus exchange students is included in the e-study guide.

Semesters 1-10: e study guide available at https://qa.auth.gr/en/studyguide/600000413/current (2019-today)

Clinical courses use a combination of lectures, seminars, and bedside teaching, with no option to separate components. Bedside teaching takes place in groups on the ward under the guidance of a doctor, covers the clinical component of teaching on relevant topics and alternates with lectures and seminars. At the end of the course, students will be assessed (written in multiple choice format, oral or oral-practical-skills exams).
